NEWICK HURT BY EXPLOSION

Word was received in this city yesterday that William F. F. Newick of Hartford, Conn., formerly of this city, was seriously injured by a premature explosion of dynamite during an important test. His injuries are said not to be critical.

Mr. Newick, who is superintendent of the Robbins brewery, participated in a test of powder which was supposed to be proof against heat and which could only be ignited with a spark. Mr. Robbins, who backed the invention was present. So was the inventor. Eighteen holes were loaded with dynamite and four of the charges exploded, while the three men were standing nearby. The inventor's clothing was blown over several sections of Hartford. Mr. Newick was hurled twenty feet through the air. Robbins was slightly hurt.

In the word received in this city, it is intimated that an enemy of the inventor plugged the holes with the old grade of explosives.

FORTY MILES IN SIX WEEKS

Six weeks ago, the 68 ton snow sloop Umbajicus of Bath, left the Damariscotta River with a cargo of 155 pieces of piling to be used in wharf construction in this city. Up to Thursday night she had progressed some 40 of the 80 miles on her journey, having returned to Portland after being driven back from Biddeford Pool by a sou'wester.

The Umbajicus is not noted either for speed or seaworthiness, and Capt. Pottle has not cared to unnecessarily subject his square ended, square sided and square bottomed craft to the perils of winter gales. He has put in the time doging into nearly every harbor on the coast between the two ports.

SPECIAL MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE

Gov. Bass Wants the 16th Amendment Ratified.

A special message was received by the legislature Thursday from Governor Bass, urging the ratification of the 16th amendment to the federal constitution, authorizing congress to impose an income tax. He went into the merits of the measure at some length, and declared that in an emergency such power as this proposed might be of vital importance to the life of the nation. He declared an income tax to be the most equitable for taxation.

Seventy bills were introduced in the house Thursday morning, and the bottom of the pile on the speaker's desk had not been reached when recess was taken. All bills were read by title only. Among the many interesting measures were the following:

Davis of Keene—To appropriate $77,000 to enlarge the state sanatorium at Glenciffe.

Beland of Berlin—Appropriating $10,000 to aid the St. Louis hospital of Berlin.

Bond of Manchester—To incorporate the Carpenter Loan and Trust company.

Shapleigh of Middleton—An act requiring that instructions for marking ballots be printed at the head of each ballot and a marker's certificate on the back of each ballot, which must be signed by the election officers assisting a voter.

Curtis of Concord—Protecting fur-bearing animals to Oct. 15 and limiting.

Smith of Peterborough—Providing for a constitutional convention in December, 1912.

Wentworth of Plymouth—Directing the attorney general to enforce payment of indebtedness, if any, of the railroads to the state.

Davis of Grafton—To provide a bounty on hawks.

Davis of Grafton—Providing that administrators on estates of not more than $2000 shall not pay more than $50 for gravestones.

Libby of Wentworth—To require nonresidents to procure a license to fish.

Emery of Auburn—To enable the state to build highways in the links of the state highway system where towns have not improved the roads.

Wentworth of Plymouth—Requiring elections in Manchester, in order to all vehicles to carry a white light in separate it from the general election.

Representative Chappelle of Manchester introduced a bill forbidding street railways to allow passengers on their cars in excess of 33 per cent more than their seating capacity, and enabling strap-hangers to prosecute in case of violation.

Representative George L. Sibley of ward 6, Manchester, introduced a bill transferring to the police commission all papers now held by the aldermanic committee on licenses of the board of mayor and aldermen.

Following were the committee reports:

Judiciary—Senate No. 5, Act to change the name of the Portsmouth Cottage hospital. Favorable; to third reading.

Judiciary—No. 70, Act to require street railway companies to sprinkle streets. Favorable; to third reading.

Elections—Petition of David Spradley of Northumberland for the seat of P. P. Warren, Democrat. Reported ballots show Spradley Republican, received 188 votes and Warren 184 votes, and that the former is entitled to the seat.

Recommended on motion of Ewer of Exeter to complete its report.

The secretary of state appeared and read a special message from Governor Bass favoring the income tax amendment to the federal constitution.

Public Improvements—Joint resolution No. 10, for removing obstructions against navigation in the Canticook river and placing buoys. Favorable, with amendment. To appropriations.

Elections—Petition of William Spencer, Republican, contesting the seat of Preston Chandler, Democrat, of Chatham. No notice of contest has been served upon Chandler, the sitting member, the petitioner was given leave to withdraw.

Elections—Resolution directing the committee to inquire by what right Preston Chandler of Chatham holds his seat, reported that Chandler and Spencer each had the same number of votes.

Elections—Resolution directing the committee to inquire by what right David M. Thurston, Republican of Eaton, holds a seat in this house, finds that both candidates received the same number of votes.

The report was tabled by motion of Ewer of Exeter.

Judiciary—Senate No. 3, Act relating to petitions and other court processes. Favorable with amendment to third reading.

The message from the governor was read by the clerk. It included a certified copy of the proposed amendment from Secretary of State Knox and the Governor's plea.

Harbor, Secretary of War Dickinson has written a letter to Senator Hale chairman of the senate appropriations committee, calling attention to the fact that the appropriation of $200,000 made at the last session of congress will be exhausted in about six weeks.

The secretary suggests that the bill be presented from now on until the convening of congress next December under the indefinite appropriation act of March 2, 1899, which authorizes the removal of wrecks which form obstructions to navigation.

The of this appropriation can be accomplished by extending the provisions of the act to the harbor of Havana. Secretary Dickinson also invites congress to indicate what shall be done with the wreck when raised, excepting the mainmast, which the legislative body already has said shall be placed in Arlington cemetery.

Numerous requests have been received for the second mast and other parts of the ship. The government of Cuba has asked for the second mast, with the intention of erecting it on a site in the city of Havana as a monument to her liberty.

Secretary Dickinson suggests that congress pass a rule giving some branch of the government discretion to meet these requests.

NO TRACE OF MISS WHITTIER Ipswich Girl Believed to Have Been Discouraged Over Studies

Although it is now a full week since the disappearance of Miss Florence E. Chas. E. Woods has returned from the Eleventh National Automobile Show held at Madison Square Garden, New York. He reports a fine show and pleasant trip.

The work on the new wharf for the shoe company's lumber storage plant on the upper river is well along, and it will be finished in a short time. The workmen are also making great headway on the extension to the Eastern Oil and Rendering company's plant.

Chas. E. Woods, received a shipment of 1911 Cadillac 30's Monday last. This shipment includes a fore-door model, which certainly is a stunner. He also received a regular touring car with 36 inch wheels, and a coupe trimmed throughout. The fore-door model can be seen at the show room, 29 Bow street.

Defense Loses Its First Fight to Free Mrs. Schenk

MOTION TO DISMISS CASE

It is Overruled by Presiding Judge, Who Says He Would Have Allowed Husband of Woman to Testify Regardless of Statute—Points Upon Which Prosecutor Bases His Argument For Woman's Conviction

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 20.—With the state completing the presentation of its evidence in the prosecution of Mrs. Laura F. Schenk, charged with poisoning her husband, the defense began to call its witnesses, but not before Mrs. Schenk's attorney had moved to strike out all of the state's evidence and dismiss the case. It is practically sure Mrs. Schenk will take the stand in her own behalf.

Judge Jordan promptly overruled the motion, declaring that had the state called Schenk to testify against his wife he would have allowed the testimony.

A state law specifically forbids the introduction of a husband's testimony against a wife's, or vice versa, except by the other's consent.

"I would have admitted John Schenk's evidence irrespective of the statute," Jordan said. "If a man assaulted his wife and there were no witnesses it would be monstrous if she could not testify against him. In this case the alleged offense was committed on Schenk. And I certainly would have admitted him a competent witness."

In presenting the case to the jury when the state closed, Prosecutor Handan declared that the state had shown that Schenk was in good health upon his return from Europe; that the state has shown by competent physicians that the husband was suffering from both lead and arsenic poison, and that analysis of mineral water and medicine he took contained arsenic and sugar of lead; that Mrs. Schenk was indifferent to her husband, preferring another man, and had predicted his death, speaking of the kind of funeral he would have; that the accused offered a detective-nurse $1000 to administer poison to Schenk; that she had been indiscreet with another man, as testified to by her chauffeur, and that she had procured sugar of lead from Dr. Myers, asking him also for a form of arsenic.

"These points have been clearly set out," declared the state attorney, "and upon them the state bases its demand for a conviction."

It was at this point that Attorney Boyce made his motion to dismiss the case, asserting that the physicians' testimony was conflicting, some claiming lead and others arsenic poisoning, and other information was based on what Schenk had told them. He said the defense had objected to the questions in relation to the things said by Schenk, as under the statutes of West Virginia the wife cannot testify against the husband nor the husband against the wife, and for that reason no other person could testify as to what had been told them by Schenk.

LIKE "ARABIAN NIGHTS"

Elaborate Wedding Planned For the Daughter of Great Indian Prince

Lahore, India, Jan. 20.—The most elaborate preparations are being made for the fete to be held at Kapurthala, in honor of the marriage of Prince Paranjoti-Singh, son and heir of the Maharajah of Kapurthala, and Princess Brinda de Jubal, a descendant of the most ancient and illustrious caste in India.

The ante-nuptial festivities will take place during the first five days of February, and will be attended in state by all the great princes of India. At Kapurthala, the capital of the state, the maharajah has a wonderful palace and is one of the richest in money and jewels of the native rulers of India. The wedding festivities in this palace, with music, dancing girls, feasting and the princes, their families and trains in royal robes covered with priceless jewels, will be like a story from the "Thousand and One Nights."

The princess is of such ancient lineage as to be regarded as of half divine origin, and is treated with the highest veneration by the Hindus.

FIRE LOSS OF $100,000

Heart of Business Section of a Vermont Town Is Destroyed

North Adams, Mass., Jan. 20.—Fire destroyed the heart of the business section of Pownal, Vt., a small town near here. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Help was summoned to fight the flames from Williamstown, Mass., and North Pownal. Three firemen were buried beneath falling walls and were badly burned.

The fire started from a gasoline explosion in the general store of A. G. Parker & Sons. Before it was extinguished it had destroyed the store, a barn and a large warehouse connected with it, the postoffice, the Baptist church and the long horse sheds in the rear of the church. The home of A. G. Parker was partially burned.

RUMORS OF CONTEST ARE DISPOSED OF

Lodge's Certificate of Election Is Signed by the Governor

Boston, Jan. 20.—Governor Foss signed the certificate of election of Senator Lodge last night. One copy was sent to Lodge and another to Vice President Sherman, president of the senate.

The action of the governor in signing the certificate and forwarding it to Washington effectively dispels the rumor that an attempt was to be made to contest the seat on the ground that doubtful methods were pursued in securing votes enough in the legislature to re-elect the senator.

The governor declined to make any comment on the election of Lodge after he had affixed his signature to the certificate.

PAUL MORTON'S SUDDEN DEATH

He Passes Away In Hotel In New York

HEALTH WAS PRECARIOUS

Did Not Realize It Himself, but Family and Close Friends Anticipated His Breakdown—Cerebral Hemorrhage Ends Career of Head of Insurance Company and Former Railroad Man

New York, Jan. 20.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society and secretary of the navy under Theodore Roosevelt, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in the Hotel Seymour last night.

His wife and elder brother, Jay, were summoned to his side, but he died a few minutes before they arrived and an hour after he was stricken. His close friend, E. J. Berwind, arrived a few moments before he breathed his last, but he was unconscious from the moment of the stroke, and neither recognized those about him nor spoke.

The coroner's office is satisfied that death resulted from natural causes, and there will be no autopsy.

Mr. Morton himself had no idea that his life was in danger, but his family, his physicians and a few close friends knew his condition was precarious and that if he did not take care of himself something was going to break.

Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon said that from the antecedent history and the symptoms there was no doubt in his mind that death was due to arterial sclerosis, a hardening of the walls of the arteries, terminating in a cerebral lesion. He thought that Bright's disease was indicated, but there would be no autopsy. A permit for removal of the body to Morton's house was granted almost immediately. The death was reported to the coroner's office in the usual stereotyped form as follows:

"Paul Morton, 53 years old, died suddenly at the Hotel Seymour, 59 West Forty-fifth street, reported to coroner's office by Dr. Pearson of 49 West Forty-fourth street; occupation, railroad man."

Paul Morton, ex-secretary of the navy, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, prominent railroad official and vice president of the Pan-American railroad, was the son of J. S. Morton, secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of Grover Cleveland.

He was born in Detroit May 22, 1857, and started his railroad career in 1872 with the Burlington system, working up from the position of a clerk in the land office and serving as assistant general freight agent and general passenger agent and ending as general freight agent of the C., B. and Q. railroad.

He then became president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company and in 1890 was elected president of the Whitebreast Fuel company. In 1894 he went as third vice president with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad and was promoted to the second vice presidency in 1898.

He remained in this position until 1904, when, having formed an acquaintance with President Roosevelt, he was offered by him a position in his cabinet, which he accepted, becoming secretary of the navy. He served as secretary from July 1, 1904, to July 1, 1905, when he resigned to become president of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

He married Charlotte Goodridge of Chicago Oct. 13, 1880, and she, with two daughters, survives him. The daughters are Miss Pauline Morton and Mrs. William C. Potter.

At a hearing at the state house at the state house in Boston on Thursday lawyers appearing on behalf of the Boston and Maine, Boston and Albany and New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads, fought the bill and during the hearing stated that the cost of the individual drinking cups could be noticed in the legislative movements for railroads to adopt the individual drinking cup.

The attorney for the New York, New Haven and Hartford claimed it meant an expense of $3000 a day to that corporation.

QUOTATIONS FROM FAMOUS AUTHORS

Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon 'em.
—From "Twelfth Night," by Shakespeare.

BATTLESHIP CONSTRUCTION

"Owing to the recent number of serious accidents to the machinery of battleships lately put in commission," says a dispatch, "the navy department proposes to make a thorough inquiry which possibly may disclose a responsibility at the navy yards where the ships were placed in commission or last laid up for repairs."

In view of the fact that the Delaware and North Dakota, upon which the last two fatal accidents have occurred, are brand new ships fresh from private shipyards, the proposed inquiry is not likely to bear much fruit as far as these vessels are concerned.

Instead, the committee on naval affairs, for the enlightenment of navy department officials and the public at large, might wisely ask for a minute comparison of the navy yard-built Connecticut's construction with that of privately built battleships.

It is not at all improbable that there is some foundation for the oft repeated charge that contractors in the hurry and scurry of making easy money at the expense of the government are often responsible for poor construction in the way of poor piping and similar details.

It is a noteworthy fact that the appalling numerous fatal explosions occurring on battleships within the last few years have been without exception on ships built in private plants. Let us see more navy yard built ships.

As our submarine fleet increases the funny names with which they are endowed will become funny as well. Wait till the list is reduced to Skate, Moushish and Sculpin.

A dispatch says that the cruiser Washington left Hampton Roads for this port in the midst of a blinding snow storm. She is evidently heading this way to escape the rigors of a southern winter.

The newspaper men of that country doubtless think that the Mexican president's activities in press censorship are perfectly killing. Many of their stories Diaz soon as he gets his blue pencil to work.

Though hard feeling was aroused over the christening of the Arkansas it will be as a drop in the bucket compared to what will result when the governor's wives begin quarreling over the honor of naming the Utah.

Even with its cruelly curtailed salary, the position of president of the steel trust is more enviable than those of the heads of some of the steel trusts which are now experiencing hard sledding at the hands of public indignation.

Newton Newkirk, who blows the Bingville Bugle and gets all sorts of fame thereby, is reported to have purchased a young lady bear for a household pet. It, however, has proved to be an elephant on his hands and is fast assuming the proportions of a wampus.

The three Sunday schools of Akron, Penn., meet at three different hours of the day, and that enables J. W. Euck to attend them all. In 1910 he was at Sunday school 156 times. We regret to state, however, that on the 156th occasion he spoiled it all by tripping on the steps and exclaiming "Oh, bother!"

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Too Many Criminals

Andrew D. White, in discussing the London troubles with alien criminals, again calls attention to the failure of American criminal justice. We have too many murderers, he says, and too few of them are punished. Last year 1375 murders were committed, which meant an increase of 900 over the total of 1909. Only one in 86 was capital punished.

It is certainly true that many of our criminal trials are tragic farces or games of trickery and pettifoggery.

What we must do, to begin with, to lessen violent crime is too familiar to require elaboration. Procedure and practice must be overhauled, and trials rendered swift, dignified, impressive.

We have too many criminals of all sorts—native and imported. No one can wish the country to become "a happy hunting ground for criminals." How to exclude foreign malefactors and how to discourage crime here are among the gravest problems before the people.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Two Standpoints

The immigration policy of Canada is based frankly on the Government's desire to have settlers who will go into the newly opened agricultural regions, especially in the Western Provinces, and takes the position that the immigrant must show clearly that he does not intend to become a city dweller otherwise she cordially refuses him. Full discretion is conferred upon the administrative officials, who use their own judgment and use it strictly. Moreover, no restriction whatever is placed on deportation of aliens who are delinquent.

A TIMELY TOPIC

—BY—
ORISON SWETT MARDEN,
In Success Magazine.

Doing the Hardest
Thing First

I KNOW a very successful man who early in life resolved that no matter how hard anything might be, or how seemingly impossible for him to do, he would do it. He made this the test, and would never allow his moods or feelings to stand in the way of his judgment. He forced himself into a habit of promptly doing everything, no matter how disagreeable, if it would further his advancement.

People who consult their moods, their preferences or their ease never make a great success in life. It is the man who gets a firm grip on himself and forces himself to do the thing that will ultimately be best for him, who succeeds. The man who goes through life, picking out the flowers and avoiding the thorns in his occupation, always doing the easy thing first and delaying or putting off altogether, if possible, the hard thing, does not develop the strength that would enable him to do hard things when necessity forces them upon him.

It is pitiable to see young men and women remaining far below the place where their ability ought to have carried them, just because they dislike to do disagreeable things until compelled to. The best way is always to tackle the hardest things first.

defective, or otherwise undesirable, except that they must be sent back for causes which arise two years after their arrival. Most people believe that the United States ought to have an immigration which would go into the country, and not one which would increase the size of our slums and multiply our city problems. Canada, however, acts upon no views, and we merely express ours in words.—Editorial in Collier's for January 21.

Naval Disasters

The battleship Delaware accident, as yet not explained but believed to have been caused by an explosion of a boiler is the eleventh mishap on board American ships of war in the past four years, most of which have been destructive of life. During the same period there have been thirteen accidents of greater or less gravity on board men-of-war of other nations. The American disasters have been fatal than the others, having caused the death of 64 men, while those on board the foreign warships have taken 361 lives. Yet this disparity does not solace those who look proudly to the American Navy to maintain high standards of efficiency and security. A fighting machine is necessarily a delicate engine, susceptible of derangement unless most scrupulously tended in every part. Discipline in the least phase of activity on board is essential to the safety of everybody and the security of the ship. Familiarity with explosives leads now and then to carelessness. Routine breeds indifference to risk. Orders are neglected in some particular. Twenty times this may be done without disaster, and then the twenty-first time brings tragedy.

When guns burst the fault is presumably beyond human control. Some hidden flaw in the metal develops, or the machine breaks under the strain of use. That is a chance that must always be taken and cannot be lessened by devotion to duty on board ship. A boiler explosion suggests a slackness in the engine or fire room, and the most rigid investigation is required to drive from this deplorable mishap such warning as it may afford.—Washington Star.

MAY REOPEN DAVIS CASE

Whether of Rockport Midshipman Threatens to File Charges

Several months ago Midshipman Newton Davis of Rockport, Mass., was forced to a court-martial on a charge of lying. He was allowed to resign by the Secretary of the navy because the offense with which he was charged appeared to him to be trivial.

Now six months later the father of the young man threatens to make charges against the officers who preferred the charges against her son and which subsequently led to his resigning according to reports which reached the navy department Thursday.

Admiral Nicholson, chief of the bureau of navigation, said Thursday, the charges had not reached the department and that he did not know their nature. He said, however, he expected them.

He said the officers concerned and the department would court an investigation of the whole Davis' case. He added that there was nothing irregular about the charges made against the young man or the manner in which his case was handled.

Midshipman Davis used a borrowed sextant during a cruise last fall, which was a violation of the regulations. He told his commanding officer when asked why he was not using his own instrument that he had always used a borrowed one.

The charge of lying was preferred against him and he was tried and sentenced to be dismissed. Acting Secretary of the navy, Winthrop thought the sentence too severe and appointed a second court-martial. The young man's father, who is a New York business man, intervened, with the result that Midshipman Davis resigned.

Mrs. Davis, the mother, lives at Rockport, Mass. Her husband procured a divorce and the custody of the children prior to the trouble of the son.

RIVER AND HARBOR

A stranger to this port's docks for a number of years the tug Daniel Willard, formerly the Carbonero of the old Haley and Appleton fleet, was tied up here this morning awaiting the discharge of the barge Edgewater. The Willard is now owned by the Erie railroad and the four white stripes on her stack are the symbol of a line rarely seen here.

On Thursday there were coal barges of seven lines in port, viz, the Steading, Consolidation, Lehigh Valley, Lehigh Navigation, Seaboard Transportation, Central of New Jersey and New York, Susquehanna and Western.

The five master Fannie Palmer is returning to this port with a cargo of coal from Baltimore.

Barges Logan, Molino and No. 25 are discharging at the Consolidation Coal company wharves.

A great majority of the coastwise fleet is in winter quarters at various ports, and few vessels are arriving here for shelter nowadays.

Capt. Fred Kent of the packet schooner Sadie A. Kimball of Rockland, formerly of this port, is going into the gasoline business. He has just purchased of William Sawyer of Boothbay the former Gould schooner yacht Atlanta and he will use this in selling oil for motors around Swan's island. The Atlanta has been sailed up for about eight years. Capt. Kent will start at once to get her ready for service. She was commanded by Capt. Charles C. Sawyer of Kittery Point.

Another dreadnought will be added to the American Navy the latter part of March, when the first-class battle ship Utah, now nearing completion at the plant of the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, N. J., will be delivered to the government.

She will be immediately placed in commission and sent to the New York Navy Yard for a few minor changes. The full load displacement of the Utah is 23,033 tons. She will be the largest vessel afloat in the United States Navy at the present time, although the battleships Wyoming, Arkansas, New York and Texas will be more powerful when completed.

The speed of the Utah will be 20 3-4 knots. The Florida which is the sister ship of the Utah, is being built by the Government at the New York Navy Yard, but is not so near completion as the Utah. On Jan. 1 the Florida was 86.67 per cent finished.

SUPERIOR COURT

A verdict of defendant not guilty was brought in shortly after noon on Thursday in the case of Ralph E. Meras of Exeter against Arthur A. Durnap of Brentwood, in the case of alleged cheating at a horse trade, which went on trial Wednesday forenoon.

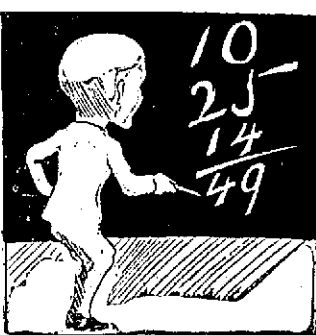

The case was on trial all day yesterday and the arguments were made Thursday morning when John Scammon of Exeter spoke for the defendant, and Ernest L. Guntill of Portsmouth, for the plaintiff. The jury took the case at 11:45 and shortly after 12 o'clock returned with the verdict.

The second case placed on trial in superior court was that of Edson E. Peaslee of Plaistow, against the Curry Brick company of that town. It is an action taken by Peaslee, who brought suit for the recovery of a bill for wood contracted by Dennis Brothers, who operate one of the brick yards of the company.

The attorneys engaged are Eastman, Scammon and Gardner of Exeter for the plaintiff and C. J. Lovett of Lynn, Mass., for the defendant. The foreman of the jury drawn was Clemens C. Littlefield of Newfields, and the panel consists of Frank Colby of Londonderry, Story A. Smith of Auburn, William P. Neal of Derry, George S. Giles of East Kingston, Edwin S. Folsom of Epping, Dennis Casey of Derry, John Badger of Plaistow, Henry Nowell of Raymond, Benjamin Brierly of Stratham, Nathaniel Kennedy of Seabrook and Maurice N. Griffin of Newmarket.

The plaintiff is the junior member of the firm of Peaslee Brothers, lumber dealers in Plaistow.

ELECTRIC CARS IN COLLISION

There was a collision between two electric cars on Congress street at 5.35 on Thursday evening, which resulted in a slight damage to both cars.

The cars were just starting out on the 5.35 trip when car No. 4 stopped at the switch in front of the Granite State building. Car No. 3 came down the slight grade and when the motorman applied the brake it refused to hold. The car crashed into the car ahead, smashing the headlight and the rear lights on the forward car. The reverse was applied and this drove the car back with a rush, shaking up the passengers, but nobody was at all injured.

STURGIS COMMISSION OUT

All Members Removed by Governor Plafsted of Maine.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 19—Governor Frederick W. Plafsted has issued letters removing Andrew Haver of Sullivan, Henry W. Oakes of Auburn and George H. Phoenix of Alfred from office as enforcement commissioners. Thus Maine's famous Sturgis law, providing for the enforcement of the prohibitory law by State deputies in counties where county officials have been derelict in their duties, becomes inoperative so far as this administration is concerned. A bill is pending in the legislature which provides for the repeal of the law itself.

The Sturgis commission, so called, was created by act of the legislature.

In 1902, and has operated in nearly every county in the state one time or another. In 1909, the deputies were not permitted to operate during the first few months. Governor Fernald taking the ground that the new sheriff should be given a chance to enforce the law, if they desired to do so. Later the deputies were again put into the field and have operated since. During the last eighteen months the expense of the commission has been put upon the counties, some of which have refused to pay, and the matter is still in abeyance, with the possibility that it may be carried to the United States supreme court.

DELAWARE SUBSTITUTED

The Delaware has left Guantanamo for Hampton Roads. Minister Cruz's body will be transported from Washington and there transferred to the Delaware. According to present arrangements the Delaware will sail for Chile January 21 by way of the Straits of Magellan.

CLEMENCY FOR ANARCHISTS

The clemency was not extended to Denefiro Keroka, the alleged ringleader, who once lived in San Francisco, and his wife, both of whom will be executed.

KENNEBEC FLOATED

Steamer Saved After Being on Rocks Two Weeks

Woods Hole, Jan. 19—The steamer Kennebec, which has been on the rocks on Pasque island, Vineyard sound, for more than two weeks, was pulled into deep water at 10 a. m. today and towed to Tarpanin cove, Nantuxon island, where repairs will be made.

The Kennebec, laden with coal, was bound from Baltimore for Boston when she ran aground on the rocks of Pasque island on the afternoon of Jan. 2. In a dense fog. The steamer's plight was known to the few dwellers on the island, but the identity of the craft was not established until the next morning. The crew, with the exception of one or two officers and the cook, were removed from the vessel and arrangements were made for floating the steamer, although it was thought at the time that she would be a total wreck.

Capt. Byrne, commander of the Kennebec, reported after the accident that he had mistaken a bell buoy in Vineyard sound for that bell buoy on Gay Head, and that before he had realized the mistake the current had swung the steamer so far around that the grounding was inevitable. The Kennebec is owned by the Chesborough steamship company of Boston and is in the coastwise coal carrying trade.

GIVEN GOLD MEDAL

The presentation was made at the New theatre before a notable assemblage of men of letters, playwrights, musicians and the flower of stageland.

To Miss Terry falls the distinction of being the first woman and the first British subject so honored. The only other medal presented by the founders was bestowed upon Dr. Horace Howard Furness, the author. Fifteen hundred invitations had been sent out by the founders.

Prior to the presentation a special performance of Maeterlinck's "Sister Beatrice" was given.

BOSTON MAN ELECTED

Washington, Jan. 19—The National board of trade today substantially endorsed the principles of the Aldrich plan of monetary reform by adopting resolutions offered by the chamber of commerce of the state of New York. The Merchants' association of New York and the New York produce exchange, recommending a "central banking organization." Tentative plans were drawn for a monetary league of business men soon to be organized by the national board.

FAVORS THE B. AND M.

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 19—The bill authorizing the Vermont Valley railroad to construct and operate a railroad between Brattleboro and South Vernon and to take and therefore, which has been the cause of many prolonged public hearings, and over which the Boston and Maine and the Grand Trunk interests have been at war, has been reported back to the House.

The majority report of the committee favored the bill and thus favored the Boston and Maine interests.

A minority report signed by Representative Mann of St. Albans and Representative of Middlebury was opposed to the bill, and this report proposed amendments favoring the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont. The reports were ordered to be read and printed, and the bill was made a special order for tomorrow afternoon.

CONFERENCE OF FOLLOWERS

Members of the Christian Science faith from all parts of New Hampshire, to the number of more than 200, gathered in Manchester Wednesday for the annual state conference. This was the first time that this event has been held in Manchester. The Rev. Charles D. Reynolds of Manchester issued the call for the meeting and presided. Mr. Reynolds was formerly the reader for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Manchester.

The principal business of the conference was the discussion of the condition, progress and future work of the church in the different localities represented. Besides the members of the church in New Hampshire there were present Alfred Farlow, head of the publication department of the denomination, and Albert E. Miller, representing the publishers of the Christian Science Monitor.

It is understood that no reference was made to the contest over Mrs. Eddy's will. It was explained that the meeting was to have been held at a date soon after that on which Mrs. Eddy died, but owing to that event the conference was postponed.

The propaganda of the church was discussed quite fully. Members from various localities told of the work accomplished and of methods used to advance the interests of the church and of the needs of the future.

GUNBOAT DOLPHIN'S MISSION

L'ENVOI OF LOVE LETTERS.

When earth's last love note is written and the ink is blotted and dried, When the oldest lover has vanished and the youngest sweetheart has died,

We shall rest, and, faith! we shall need it—lie down for an eon or two—

Till the master of loving missives shall set us to work anew.

And those who wrote well shall be happy; they shall sit in a satin chair.

They shall write a de luxe edition of odes to an angel's hair.

They shall find real loves to write to—Roberta, and Dorcas, and Ruth—

They shall work for an age at a sitting, and never say more than the truth.

And only the master shall praise us, and only the master shall blame;

And none shall propose for money, and none shall make love for fame.

But each for the joy of loving, and each in his separate star.

Shall write, to the girl he loves truly, his thoughts as they really are!

—Lida Keck Wiggins in Judge.

CRUISER WASHINGTON ARRIVES

Great Ship Here for Repairs Makes First Visit To Home Port

Tropical heat in the West Indies, a blinding snow storm in the latitude of Norfolk and beautiful spring weather upon her arrival here instead of the bitter New England winter which her officers had been led to expect, were among the kaleidoscopic changes in the weather experienced by the big armored cruiser Washington, which came into port this morning from Guantanamo via Hampton Roads.

The Washington, in command of Capt. Richard M. Hughes, was a member of the 5th division of the cruiser fleet, but she blew out a cylinder head during the manoeuvres of intercepting Admiral Schroeder's squadron on its return from European waters, and was ordered to Hampton Roads to remain until the casting was replaced from the original pattern in possession of her builders the New York Ship Building company of Camden, N. J.

From the Roads she was ordered here to undergo minor repairs, including the replacement of two propellers, following which she will return south to again participate in the drills.

This is the Washington's first visit to her home port, though her sister ships, the Montana, North Carolina and Tennessee have put in no inconsiderable time here since they were assigned to this station.

The Washington arrived in the lower harbor at about 9 o'clock and immediately came up to the yard under her own steam, docking at the station pier. Her coal supply was so low that it was necessary to take aboard 250 tons upon her arrival.

Have it that a majority of the law makers are against the bill doing away with the board of public works.
